DIVISION OF SCIENCE RESOURCES STATISTICS

The Division of Science Resources Statistics (SRS) fulfills the legislative mandate of the National Science Foundation Act to ...

provide a central clearinghouse for the collection, interpretation, and analysis of data on scientific and engineering resources and to provide a source of information for policy formulation by other agencies of the Federal Government...

To carry out this mandate, SRS designs, supports, and directs periodic surveys as well as a variety of other data collections and research projects. These surveys yield the materials for SRS staff to compile, analyze, and disseminate quantitative information about domestic and international resources devoted to science, engineering, and technology.

If you have any comments or suggestions about this or any other SRS product or report, we would like to hear from you. Please direct your comments to:

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This publication was prepared by Kelly H. Kang, Project Officer for the Survey of Doctorate Recipients, Science and Engineering Human Resources Statistics Program (HRS) of the National Science Foundation's Division of Science Resources Statistics (SRS), under the overall direction of Mary J. Golladay, Program Director, HRS. Further guidance and review was provided by Mary J. Frase, Deputy Director, SRS; Ronald S. Fecso, Chief Statistician, SRS; and Lynda T. Carlson, Division Director.

David Edson of Mathematica Policy Research (MPR) provided oversight in the production and a detail review of the tables. Francis Fefegula provided valuable assistance in the final table preparation. Tanya R. Gore and Rolfe Larson of the Information and Technology Services Program (ITSP) of SRS provided editing, processing, and final composition for this report. John R. Gawalt, Program Director of the ITSP, and his Web team handled electronic publication.

Census Bureau collected and processed the 1999 survey data for NSF. Census Bureau team staff who worked on this project were LaTerri Bynum, David Pysh, Susan Henn, Gary Curzi and John Nelson.
